"What we need in this country is a few amendments to the Constitution. One is constrained to hang his head in shame when some of the apologies for Senators show their heads in the halls of Congress. There are few statesmen in Congress any more," said a government employe at Murphy's Hotel last night.

"I would let you quote me if it were not for the fact that I do not want any unpleasantness in my business. But one of the best things that could happen to this country is an election of Senators by the people. But that is not the end of the good work. We should amend the Constitution in order that about twelve or fifteen Senators could be elected at large by popular vote throughout the United States. They ought to be named 'statesmen,' and politics ought not to be considered. In fact, these men should not be nominated by any party. Simply place their names on the ticket and let everybody vote for his man, without regard to political affiliation." Said the government official.

"My iden is that these fifteen 'statesmen' should not cater to any particular section of the country, but be on the job in the interest of the people generally. When a cifizen went to Washington and wanted information about anything or desired a bill intro-Hotel last night.

COURT-MARTIAL ORDERED

Non-Commissioned Officer Requests Trial-W. & L. Alumni Organize.

Judging from the demand being made upon the Department of Agriculture for hog cholera serum, the disease must have made big inroads upon the industry in this State. Many inquiries are coming in, and some farmers, unwilling to wait for detailed information, are sending in their orders on the basis of the articles printed in The Times-Dispatch. There is a general Macedonian cry for help.

Commissioner Koiner has the stuff on hand and is filling all orders as soon as they arrive. It is desired that it be fully understood that the serum is a preventive, and not a cure, and while good results have been observed in some cases where the disease had already appeared on the animal treated.

Records 8,000 Names.

Secretary J. V. Bidgood, of the Department of Virginia Military Records, has almost completed the first volume of records of Virginia soldiers in the War Between the States. He had three books especially made in the beginning, and nw is doubtful if they will be sufficient to hold all the records in the office. Probably 8,000 names have been placed in the book, with the record of each man, the date of enlistment and the date of discharge. the date of discharge.

Colonel N. A. McLean Stirs North Carolina Bar Association. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

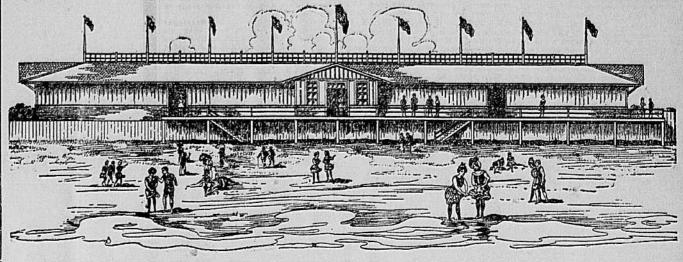

Wilmington, N. C. June 29.—The North Carolina Bar Association held not only an interesting and profitable meeting at Wrightsville Beach to-day, but there was something of the sensutional in it. This was caused by an address delivered by Colonel N. A. McLean, of Lumberton, who took for his topic, much to the surprise of the members, the "Old North Carolina Bond Question." Further to their surprise, Colonel McLean dealt with the matter with gloves off, contending that the State should never have fought the South Dakota case, but should have recognized the justice of the claim and should have, in all honor, paid these bonds without the slightest hesitancy or question. Touching the carpet-bag bonds, issued during the times of corruption, just after the war, he contended that the legislators, although rascals and corruptionists, were agents of the State, and consequently if people innocently purchased the bonds, North Carolina is bound in law to pay them, and that the State should meet these obligations, even if her citizens have to be taxed treble what they are now taxed. taxed.
His speech created quite a sensation, and was instantly sharply replied to by Cameron Morrison, of Charlotte, who was a member of the North Carrollina Legislature in 1901. He bitterly attacked the position taken by Colonel McLeve.
